The market changes faster than marketing. In essence, marketing strategy has undergone only two eras, the entity era and the bit era, also known as the industrial age and the digital age. In the age of digital society, all CEOs, CMOs and senior marketing executives must consider how to change their strategies, improve the role of marketing and adopt emerging technological and data tools to integrate with the Internet. The goal of digital marketing strategy is not to disrupt existing marketing strategies, but to complement, integrate and develop the two at the same time. In this book, the authors provide detailed discussion and practical analysis on the relationship between marketing and digital technologies and propose a marketing implementation framework for digital strategy platforms. Standing for Recognize, Reach, Relationship and Return, the 4R system is a powerful strategic trading tool for digital implementation, especially for CEOs and CMOs. All other tools, such as data platforms, content marketing, DSP digital advertising and digital marketing ROI design essentially serve the 4R system. As such, the authors advocate for firms to restructure their digital marketing strategy around the 4R system.

Marketing Strategy strips away the confusion and jargon that surround what ought to be one of the most straightforward areas of modern business. Marketing and strategy are about relationships between people and this is brought clearly into focus in the text. The marketing practitioner will find this an accomplished book on the role of the marketing director in the successful organization of the year 2000 and beyond. Managers, outside that specialism will be able to understand the pivotal role of marketing in the business strategy process while students will value the bridge it creates between academic theory and practical implementation of marketing in an increasingly competitive environment. Key aims of the book are: * developing a business strategy * devising a marketing strategy * implementing a marketing strategy

The essential marketing text for business students and professionals--updated and revised to accommodate rapid changes in the business world. First issued in 1991, Steven Schnaars's text combines a centrist approach to basic theory with real-world business examples. In clear and focused language, Schnaar focuses on the three Cs--customers, competition, and changing market trends.

The very best business isn't born out of punches, macho tactical skirmishing or simply 'being busy', but is the product of careful calculation and understanding customers' needs, wants and aspirations. Marketing Strategy Masterclass is a 'how to' book of marketing strategy focused on doing what our customers want us to do, how they want it done. Included throughout are the wise words of a choice selection of history's masters, depicted on the book's front cover. Aimed at professional marketing managers, business development managers and students, this real and practical masterclass is an indispensable reference for use on its own or alongside Marketing Strategy, 3rd edition, also published by Butterworth-Heinemann. ABOUT THE AUTHOR Paul Fifield has been extensively involved in strategic marketing training and education since 1980. His professional assignments have ranged from marketing strategy development for some of the UK's largest companies through to projects in market segmentation and branding to top-level in-company strategy development programmes and workshops. He has advised clients in a wide range of industries including aviation, banking, brewing, business services, computing and software, construction, economic development, housing, hotels and catering, insurance, publishing, retailing, household appliances, telecommunications, tourism and utilities. Paul is also Visiting Professor of Marketing at the University of Southampton and at the Collège des Ingénieurs in Paris. Marketing Strategy: The Thinking Involved is an innovative text that holds that marketing thinking leads to effective marketing strategy. It goes beyond simply introducing students to concepts and theories in the field by providing them with tools and methods to develop marketing thinking and questioning skills that will help them apply the concepts to real-life marketing strategy issues. As the chapters progress, the questions develop towards higher levels and more specialized inquiry, helping students acquire the skills needed in the practice of marketing. The book contains a wealth of pedagogy to support this active learning approach.

This book consists of a series of articles that present novel trends in horticulture marketing and some of the key supply chain management issues for the horticulture industry across a wide range of geographical regions.

This is a third edition of the Management Task, a diploma level book in the Chartered Management of Institute series. This book addresses the task of management in terms of the different processes involved, for example, planning, decision-making, organizing, communication, and the more specific management functions such as personnel, marketing and the environment of management and business. It covers the knowledge and understanding required as part of any competency-based management programme. This new edition has nearly doubled in length to cover the new areas of the CMI diploma syllabus and now includes two new sections on marketing and new management thinking.

Since China's accession to the World Trade Organization (WTO) in 2002, China is now officially fully open for business and may soon be the biggest economy in the world. No one in, or embarking upon, a managerial career can afford to ignore a market that comprises one-fifth of the world's population. Doing Business in China is essential reading for the manager or firm setting up a business for the first time in this vital and complex market. Aimed specifically at Western and non-Chinese businesses and managers, this book offers a general framework for understanding Chinese business culture along with a guide for acquiring further knowledge on China. This text is a practical guide to business practices, market conditions, negotiations, organizations, networks and the business environment in China. Alongside summaries of theoretical research, Doing Business in China provides a perceptual toolkit which will enable the businessperson or student to do business in China and apply that knowledge back in the West. Building on the strengths of the first edition, this new second edition is fully updated to include new case studies as well as discussion of China's entry into the WTO. It is an invaluable resource for students of international business and management, and practitioners alike.
