In the beginning God created the Heavens, the Earth, and the Human Race and said it was good. God put a man and woman in the Garden of Eden where they could live stark naked, free from lust and all temptations. There was no toiling or sweating. No pain or hunger. Everything was provided to sustain them forever. Then they screwed it all up. To this day the Human Race has learned absolutely nothing from this debacle. Life in the mid twentieth century, along the Buffalo River in Lawrence County, Tennessee, exemplifies the divergent range of consciousness which has evolved in Mankind since the time of Eden. Minnie Shelton said she had two things against her when she was born. She was Black and she was a woman. She taught herself to read when she was four. She had an unquenchable thirst to understand the world and most of all the reason for existence. Minnie had a perspective of the world much above the masses. She would live her life yielding to the unmovable and grasping as much from life as time and circumstance afforded. Jo Sephus was a small man with the cognitive development of an eight year old. He was abandoned by his mother and siblings in his mid teens. He accepted whatever life offered without judgment or malice. Minnie Shelton said if she had to stand in final judgment in another's shoes it would be those of Jo Sephus. Life can be hard. Nature is blind and unyielding. Sickness and death stalk us from our genetic inheritance. But above all, most misery comes from Man's inhumanity against Man. Yet, as Ophelia Shelton found in a journal left by her mother, each person on earth has within their grasp the power and conviction to eradicate human misery. It was given to humanity by a man that walked this earth for over thirty years, two thousand years ago. "Love your neighbor as..." In total exasperation Ophelia cries "Why are we all so blind?"

How many digital photos do you have jumbled on your computer? A picture is worth a thousand words, but if you're not managing your photos, they're just wasting space on your computer hard drive. Or worse yet, you risk losing those priceless photos forever. What's a Picture Worth? is a user-friendly guide to help walk you through how to organize, rename, and tag your photos so you can find any photo in mere seconds. You'll learn to leverage free software to fix a so-so photo and turn it into one that really pops. The author will show you the best method to back up your photos and how to share and collaborate on those memories so they're not "gathering dust" in your computer. Plus, you'll gain useful tips on taking better pictures and scanning old photos. With over 15 years in the computer industry, Jim White knows the important balance of taking something technical and making it less complicated for the everyday computer user. He loves to learn the intricacies of how things work and then find ways to make them easier for everyone to understand. With thousands of his own photos, Jim has perfected ways to organize, fix, and share his photos and now wants to pass that knowledge onto you! Table of Contents

'If they have ever a fanciful and idle air, perhaps the reader will suppose them written in the shade of a Sunny Day, in the midst of the objects of which they treat, and will like them none the worse for having such influences of the country upon them. Pictures from Italy is a delightful travelogue by Dickens that narrates his reflections during his stay in Genoa. In ceaseless picturesque images, he paints the streets and buildings as well as the life of Italy.
