A splendidly illustrated collection of poems inspired by young children that address common themes such as having a hard day at school, feeling shy or being a newcomer. The poems in Climbing Shadows were inspired by a class of kindergarten children whom poet and playwright Shannon Bramer came to know over the course of a school year. She set out to write a poem for each child, sharing her love of poetry with them, and made an anthology of the poems for Valentine's Day. This original collection reflects the children's joys and sorrows, worries and fears, moods and sense of humor. Some poems address common themes such as having a hard day at school, feeling shy or being a newcomer, while others explore subjects of fascination — bats, spiders, skeletons, octopuses, polka dots, racing cars and birthday parties. Evident throughout the book is a love of words and language and the idea that there are all kinds of poems and that they are for everyone — to read or write. Cindy Derby's dreamy watercolor illustrations gently complement each poem. Beautiful, thoughtful, sensitive and funny, this is an exceptional collection. In the next chapter of my book will be detailed steps on everything that will occur during the preparation of what will happen after the wedding. As she prepares for the wedding, she designs the perfect wedding gown. This is what will happen in the novel. As with the book of poems, it was a combination of events that had happened in the imagination of my mind. The book of poems has inspired me to continue to write and create my thoughts on how I will like my audience to see my work. The time that I have put into this book has not been an overnight experience. It has been a long road and some writer's block, but it has been rewarding. When I first started writing, I never imagined that I will someday become an author. I had many sleepless nights, but writing this book of poems has given me the joy of being able to express my feelings and share them with the world. All kinds of poems and novels were created. By the way, I decided to prove that poems do not necessarily have to have rhythm but that it can be expressed with understanding. If you know what you want and how you want to inspire yourself, then it will inspire others to want that encouragement. I work so hard to put my words into something that others can relate to. This book has inspired me to continue to write more and more. I hope that by the time my audience read this, it will help them pursue their dreams. When I received the news about my manuscript, I thanked God for bringing me this far and never leaving me. I also thank my husband for encouraging me to finish. Thank you, Ricky, for the moral support. I hope you all enjoy this book.
