presenter, and trainer, Carlton C. Casler, shares nearly three decades of experience with speakers of all levels. Unlike so many how-to books designed only to inspire, this book stands alone as a practical, user-friendly guide that offers precise instructions on preparing the presentation and what to do before, during, and after the presentation, including: how to build your credibility as a speaker; the two step process that will improve every presentation; the four step process all professional speakers use to answer every question; and how you can seamlessly modify your presentation (for the better) during your presentation. The author addresses the myriad software aids now available and offers helpful strategies on how to integrate the most effective of these into a presentation. From first tip to last, this guide is designed for one purpose only: to take speakers and their presentations to a higher and more successful level - to presentation excellence.

In this first full-scale ethnographic study of Yemeni tribal poetry, Steven Caton reveals an astonishingly rich folkloric system where poetry is both a creation of art and a political and social act. Almost always spoken or chanted, Yemeni tribal poetry is cast in an idiom considered colloquial and "ungrammatical," yet admired for its wit and spontaneity. In Yemeni society, the poet has power over people. By eloquence the poet can stir or, if his poetic talents are truly outstanding, motivate an audience to do his bidding. Yemeni tribesmen think, in fact, that poetry's transformative effect is too essential not to use for pressing public issues. Drawing on his three years of field research in North Yemen, Caton illustrates the significance of poetry in Yemeni society by analyzing three verse genres and their use in weddings, war mediations, and political discourse on the state. Moreover, Caton provides the first anthropology of poetics. Challenging Western cultural assumptions that political poetry can rarely rise above doggerel, Caton develops a model of poetry as cultural practice. To compose a poem is to construct oneself as a peacemaker, as a warrior, as a Muslim. Thus the poet engages in constitutive social practice. Because of its highly interdisciplinary approach, this book will interest a wide range of readers including anthropologists, linguists, folklorists, literary critics, and scholars of Middle Eastern society, language, and culture.

This is the workbook and laboratory manual to the main text which aims to bring students up-to-date with radiologic science. In its fifth edition, Radiologic Science covers such topics as image contrast and fast imaging techniques of MRI, and duplex technology of diagnostic ultrasound.
