Family Crest Search - Rietstap's Armorial General

In 1861 he published the first edition of the General Armorial. For the first time, he gathered, in one volume, hundreds of regional or national armorial across Europe. His book was containing more than 110 000 descriptions. From 1903, Victor and Henri Rolland undertook the achievement of an illustrated General Armorial. They designed in black and white (respecting heraldic rules) the majority of the heraldic descriptions cited in the original book.

This is a shortened version of the three volume Walford's Guide to Reference Material, 5th edition: Volume 1, Science and Technology (1989), Volume 2, Social and historical sciences, philosophy and religion (1990), and Volume 3, Generalia, language and literature, the arts (1991). There are more than 3,000 entries, forming an updated compilation of what are considered to be the basic items in the main volumes, plus some more recent material up to April 1992.

Includes entries for maps and atlases.

The Rozier/Rosier family originally from France in the 1500s to England to the United States. This material focuses on one branch of the total family. This featured lineage extends from Virginia in 1637 across the southeastern states to California (The Virginia to California Rozier family) in 1989. John Rosier (1604-1659/60) was born in London, England, a son of Robert Rosier. He was married to Elizabeth (Jane) Hillier, the daughter of John Hillier (Hilliard) of Maryland. Rev. John Rosier was a minister of the Church of England in at least four Virginia parishes. He had come to Virginia ca. 1638. Includes also some other branches of the family: The Rozier family of Maryland. Benjamin Rozier came from Glastonbury, England in 1663; The Rozier family of Missouri. Jean Ferdinand Rozier came from Nantes, France, in 1806; and the Rozier family of New York, New England, and Canada.
