Currently, there are over 65,000 foundations in the United States. One of the largest is the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, which has approximately $22 billion in assets and paid out an estimated $2.8 billion in grants in 2008. The Rockefeller Foundation gave $2.2 million to help fund the rebuilding of New Orleans and committed an additional $70 million to build the resistance of communities vulnerable to climate change. The Ben & Jerry's Foundation, the Tiger Woods Foundation, and the Ford Foundation are other foundations that provide funds to those in need. This book details the different types of foundations and how to identify a foundation to fund your project. You will learn how to qualify for grants, locate foundations in your subject and geographic area, and how to fill out a grant application. This book will also explain how to create an effective proposal by walking you through each section, including the cover letter, table of contents, executive summary, and statement of need, as well as your project's goals and objectives, specific and measurable outcomes, evaluation, budget, and sustainability. You will even learn how to write letters of inquiry that will grab and keep the readers' attention. The book is filled with valuable information for organisations seeking funding from foundations. There are also insightful interviews with foundation officers and grant recipients, as well as sample proposals, letters, worksheets, and checklists. By using these tools and following the advice in this comprehensive guide, you will be able to find funding and achieve your organisation's goals.

The importance of protecting significant buildings from decay and destruction would seem to be undeniable. Yet whilst the majority of buildings of merit constructed before the Second World War have been highlighted as worthy of protection there is much indifference, and in some cases hostility towards many important post-war buildings. These deserve to receive wider formal recognition but in many cases continue to be mistreated or even demolished. This book examines many of the philosophical and practical issues surrounding the conservation of modern buildings and also the problems faced by building practitioners in dealing with buildings constructed in a wider range of styles and materials than at any other time. Climate change in particular has forced change in the way in which we think about buildings, with the pressures to address issues of energy efficiency becoming more urgent and likely to have consequences that may alter the perceived architectural and historic interest of modern and traditional buildings alike.
