In its recent review of the fourth (and final) /Egypt novel, Bookforum said: “ We may one day look on /Egypt's publishing history with the same head-scratching curiosity with which we now regard Melville's tragic struggles and André Gide ' s decision to turn down Swann's Way. † ? As those words were being typed, Overlook was well into the process of reclaiming the magnificent tetralogy, and with the publication of The Solitudes, readers re-entered the fantastic world that enthralled reviewers and was enshrined in Harold Bloom ' s Western Canon. In Love & Sleep, the second volume of the series, the professor Pierce Moffett finds himself at a great turning point in the history of the world. As a child, Pierce was no stranger to magic, but those revelations faded with time. Now Pierce's search for a secret history of the world—one in which magic works and angels speak to humankind—has begun again. Love & Sleep is followed by the third volume in the /Egypt cycle, Dæmonomania, and the fourth, Endless Things.

It's time to sleep, it's time to sleep, the fishes croon in waters deep. The songbirds sing in trees above, "It's time to sleep, my love, my love." As children prepare for bed, the world around them is also settling down for the night. Animals who live in the jungle, the forest, the sea—all whisper to their babies a soft refrain: It's time to sleep, my love. As comforting as a soft blanket and warm as a goodnight hug, Eric Metaxas's lullaby is lovingly brought to life by bestselling artist Nancy Tillman (On the Night You Were Born) , whose illustrations celebrate the wonders of the natural world, and the bonds of family. It's Time to Sleep, My Love is a 2009 Bank Street - Best Children's Book of the Year.

All is well, Little Love. Good night! At bedtime, little ones often have a hard time letting go of the day, sometimes for fear of what they are missing while alone in bed. But this delightful board book replaces those fears with reminders that toddlers are loved and cared for throughout the night. Each spread welcomes a new Big and Little pair of matching animals. Big is calmly telling Little Love about all the things that will happen while Little Love is dreaming. . . . Most importantly, God, who never sleeps, will be ever watchful until morning and beyond.

A touch-and-feel board book in three languages offers the words for objects connected to bedtime in English, French and Spanish. 20,000 first printing.

If a parent could vocalize all her deepest hopes and her child, this is what she might say... Every parent has hopes and dreams for their children? that they will play and explore, learn and grow. That they will experience life's many wonders and persevere through its many challenges. That they will one day leave the protection of home and go off into the world strong, happy, knowing that they are always loved. Maryann Cusimano Love, author of the modern classic You Are My I Love You, has written another moving ode to parenthood, captured in playful, loving images by brilliant newcomer Maria van Lieshout (Bloom!). This timeless book is perfect for bedtime or anytime.
