Italian writer and filmmaker Gianni Celati's 1989 philosophical travelogue Towards the River's Mouth explores perception, memory, place and space as it recounts a series of journeys across the Po River Valley in northern Italy. This edition, translated into English for the first time, features a selection of ten essays by various scholars.

Essays on Italian novelists, poets and playwrights, new forms of expression through experimentation, as well as avant-guarde groups, including young and idealistic literati that called themselves Gruppo 63 and later Gruppo 93. Covers feminist writers, the inauguration of the postmodern narratives often called metafiction, and the "new novel."

Questo libro contiene l'invito a sfogliare gli album fotografici di famiglia, i ritratti degli amici, ad aprire le scatole e i cassettei dei ricordi, o a riguardare i file conservati sul computer e nello smartphone per esplorare le tante istantanee che vi sono depositate. E poi narrarsi, a cominciare dal patrimonio che ciascuno possiede! E riscoprire le tante immagini, forse cadute nell'oblio; nella sorpresa di rivedersi e di ritrovarsi, nel passato o in tempi più vicini, si dipanano tante storie. Il libro sostiene il bisogno di raccontarsi per riunire quei fili invisibili che forse si sono spezzati e necessitano di essere riannodati, per fare di ogni vita una tessitura solida e consistente. Per sentire vicinanza a se stessi, agli altri e al mondo, per farne parte in modo consapevole e grato, per rafforzarsi nei momenti più oscuri, per dire del proprio esserci o dell'esserci stati. Gli scatti fotografici possono fare luce su tanta parte dei giorni trascorsi e di quelli nuovi. Essi possono rappresentare trame di passaggi, di scelte, di crescite, di momenti gioiosi o malinconici. Tracce che ciascuno porta nella propria unica, eccezionale vita!

A handsome facsimile of conceptualist Luigi Ghirri's poetic narrative of 1970s pop culture Italian photographer Luigi Ghirri (1943-92) made Cardboard Landscapes (Paesaggi di cartone)during his travels around Europe, coining the term "sentimental geography" to describe his unique artistic approach of examining the ordinary to prove it remarkable. The original handmade album features over 100 chromogenic color prints pasted onto the pages of a blank book, and was gifted by Ghirri to John Szarkowski, then the Director of the Department of Photography at the Museum of Modern Art, in the 1970s. A singular work of art, Cardboard Landscapes is now being published for the first time. The collection is an anomaly within Ghirri's overall oeuvre, as it prioritizes complex composition rather than the sweeping tableaux for which he is best known. In this series of works, he regards the printed image as the subject, framing a kaleidoscope of photographs and advertisements to tell a poetic visual narrative that reflects at once regional, personal and popular culture, revealing a fascinating impulse to investigate his role within his own medium. Luigi Ghirri(1943-92) was a celebrated Italian artist and photographer known for his color photographs of landscape and architecture. He published his first photography book, Kodachrome, in 1978, and continued to utilize a conceptual framework to interrogate the line between fiction and reality.
