And perversion go, the Victorian era has no equal. These stories delve into the world of the aristocrat and the streetwalker, the seasoned seductress and the innocent naif. Lesbian erotica of the Victorian era defies stereotypes and offers rich portraits of a sexuality driven underground by repressive sexual mores.

In For and Against the Bible (1801), Sheila Delany translates Sylvain Mar é chal ' s rationalist commentary on Jewish and Christian scripture. Atheist and supporter of the French Revolution, Mar é chal hoped his text might remind compatriots of the values for which they had recently fought.

A scorching age-gap ice-queen romance with a happy ending.
TARA STAUDENMAIER College student Tara Staudenmaier will do anything for her family. When medical debt looms, she doesn't hesitate to do whatever it takes. Even if it means putting herself - and her inexperience in love - up on the auction block. She only asks that nobody discover her biggest secret. The reason she's gone gray at twenty and now has something to offer a would-be suitor looking for a month-long affair. ASTRID EVANSTwo years

After the death of her husband, Astrid is used to the jokes and jeers from the peerage. Everyone knows she's a trophy wife who received the inheritance of a lifetime. But it didn't come without a price. Traumatized by her former experiences, Astrid now spends her nights subjecting herself to the same events that once changed her life. That's how she discovers Tara, a young and naïve woman who will be chewed up by the same system that stole Astrid's own youth. THE ONLY KEY... IS HYPOCRISY When Tara arrives at Evans Manor for a month of companionship, Astrid rejects their mutual attraction, if only to sleep better at night. Soon, she can't sleep at all. The electric chemistry between Astrid and Tara is unlike Anything to hit the quiet country manor. While Tara explores what it means to fall in love and indulge in her lifelong fantasies, Astrid confronts the nightmares that have turned her into the ice-cold queen of her fortress. Everything she needs is within grasp - yet she denies it. Until she can't anymore, and all hell breaks loose.

On the unstable boundaries between "interior" and "exterior," "private" and "public," and always in some way relating to a "beyond," the imagery of interior space in literature reveals itself as an often disruptive code of subjectivity and of modernity. The wide variety of interior spaces elicited in literature -- from the odd room over the womb, secluded parks, and train compartments, to the city as a world under a cloth -- reveal a common defining feature: these interiors can all be analyzed as codes of a paradoxical, both assertive and fragile, subjectivity in its own unique time and history. They function as subtexts that define subjectivity, time, and history as profoundly ambiguous realities, on interchangeable existential, socio-political, and epistemological levels. This volume addresses the imagery of interior spaces in a number of iconic and also lesser known yet significant authors of European, North American, and Latin American literature of the nineteenth, twentieth, and twenty-first centuries: Djuna Barnes, Edmond de Goncourt, William
