Volume One traces the history of Opel and Vauxhall separately from inception through to the 1970s and thereafter collectively to 2015. Special attention is devoted to examining innovative engineering features and the role Opel has taken of providing global platforms for GM. Each model is examined individually and supplemented by exhaustive supporting specification tables. The fascinating history of Saab and Lotus begins with their humble beginnings and examines each model in detail and looks at why these unusual marques came under the GM Banner. Included is a penetrating review of Saab through to its unfortunate demise. Volume Two examines unique models and variations of Chevrolet and Buick manufactured in the Southern Hemisphere and Asia but never offered in North America. Daewoo, Wuling and Baojun are other Asian brands covered in detail. This volume concludes with recording the remarkable early success of Holden and its continued independence through to today. Volume Three covers the smaller assembly operations around the world and the evolution of GM ' s export operations. A brief history of Isuzu, Subaru and Suzuki looks at the three minority interests GM held in Asia. The GM North American model specifications are the most comprehensive to be found in a single book. Global and regional sales statistics are included. GM executives and management from around the globe are listed with the roles they held. An index ensures that these volumes serve as the ideal reference source on GM.

Jason Robbins and Helen Jenkins arrive at eerie Heron House in Carmarthenshire. Together they discover what dangers lurk behind the walls; how the post-war past bleeds into the present when the tormented soul of the young woman haunting them will stop at nothing to have her story told. But is the ghost's version of events to be trusted?

Who or what is she? Trying to be the boy her family desires, Claire Wilson struggles with her gender dysphoria until one day her mother explains that she was born a hermaphrodite, having two genders. Claire was born with a congenital defect but was medically mutilated as a baby at the behest of her father who wished to have all evidence of female traits removed. All around her see a boy, "William, " but when she looks in a mirror Claire sees a girl. Each time she tries to break out of the mold in which her family and society has placed her, her trauma deepens. Eventually something breaks. The Nymph is the middle book of a trilogy following the continuing story of a very remarkable woman who overcame gender dysphoria to eventually achieve what she had always wanted in life.
