These walls and a roof don ' t make a church, this pulpit and this Bible don ' t make a church, but people do. We are “ the house the Lord built, ” Paul says, the house the Lord is still building, laid upon the foundation of Jesus Christ. This year ' s confirmation class that my daughter Lela is a part of (that our reader today, Cory, is a part of) is the next layer of “ living stones ” laid upon that foundation.

Meadgate church started as a Sunday School in a local house on the newly created Meadgate estate. It was like a mustard seed planted on this new estate that became as the title suggest 'the House that God Built'. It was planted under the auspices of the local parish but was ecumenical in flavour and ethos to serve all the people of the estate. It is now celebrating its fiftieth anniversary. This account has been written as part of that celebration. It shows the hand of God in the life and growth of this church, so that truly it is 'the House that God Built'.

This Is the World that God Built is a retelling of the biblical creation story. A riff on the familiar nursery rhyme “ This Is the House that Jack Built, ” the story uses the cumulative tale format to build from Day One of creation, when God split light from the darkness, through Day Seven, when God rested from his work. The book follows the biblical account of creation using simple rhyming verses and vivid illustrations sure to become a treasured

By looking at the nightly news and simply observing for themselves the denigration of homes and communities across our country, many would agree that family foundations are cracking and shifting out of place. This has resulted in untold devastation within the home and our other social systems; therefore, many households and lives have simply given way and collapsed under the weight of a host of societal pressures. Many believe that a generation of social experimentation along with our cultures fixation at redefining virtually every foundational institution (especially the first human institution marriage) are responsible for placing the family and society on very shaky ground indeed, leaving a very dubious moral and economic legacy for successive generations. When cracks begin to appear upon the walls of a house, it may indicate a shifting or damaged foundation, which may indicate poor foundation work. As a result, builders typically reexamine the blueprints the master plan to determine the manner and materials with which the house and foundations built in order to pinpoint and repair a weak or damaged foundation. It is the authors conviction that in many households within society, weak or faulty spiritual and moral foundations have been laid, resulting in the cultural cataclysm we witness throughout our land. In his book, The House that God Built: Gods Master Plan for Marriage and His Blueprint for Blessing, Book One of his Strong Foundation for Strong Families series, the author discusses the need for a RE-Vision, of marriage and the family but not by redefining, replacing or removing these honorable foundations and pillars which have supported societies from the beginning of time. Rather, by employing the word RE-Vision, he calls for a refocus a fresh new look at Gods original design for the marriage and family. This plan is found in Gods Holy Word, specially, the first two chapters of the Book of Genesis because this, he feels, is where marriage, family and social systems began. Therefore, the book is a thorough exposition of the first chapters of Genesis which explore the motivations and the methods through which God Himself built His house (the heavens and the earth). This study provides keen spiritual and practical insights as to how we can build our homes according to Gods plans so as to receive His best blessings upon our homes and upon our communities.
